ABOUT US

Boscoyo Studio is a family owned business started by a bunch of E.L.F.'s or Extreme Lighting Fanatics in 2013. As hobbyist we encountered problems of how to design new props. This became more of an issue as RGB began entering into the hobby. The need for RGB nodes to maintain a specific spacing and maintain proper orientation was crucial in props and specifically the MegaTree. Boscoyo solved this problem in 2013 by being the innovator in what is know as the Original MegaTree Mounting strip. Since then we pioneered the way for the now HD version in a continuous roll version that is available in 1,000 foot rolls and is the strongest MegaTree mounting strip period! Our strips have been used in 80' tall MegaTrees down to smaller 3' tall trees.

Since the creation of the MegaTree Mounting strip, Boscoyo has consistently pushed the way people decorate with RGB props and currently offers hundreds of props and growing every week. One of the biggest complaints is the look of RGB props during the day. Last year we introduced the first line of DayCor props that are silk screened to look like actual items like Candy Canes and Stockings. This year we have taken it even further with our High-Res Digitally printed Day-Cor props. Now anything can be turned into a RGB Pixel prop.

The “ORIGINAL” Mounting Strips

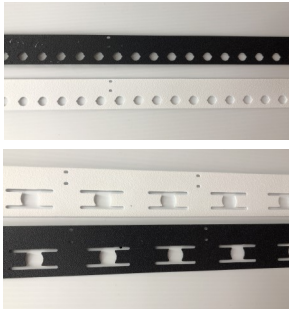

The Original Mounting Strips are the Gold standard to building RGB MegaTrees. It solved the issue of keeping nodes in a precise spacing and oriented the proper way. Boscoyo first invented them in 2013 and have continually evolved them to the strongest strips on the market with the introduction of our HD Continuous Rolls. The rolls allow you cut the strip to the desired length with rolls available in 200, 500, and 1,000 feet.

New for 2019 Christmas High-Res DayCor props. We partnered with Mattos Orchard to create one of a kind props that are digitally printed directly to the coro. We then can cut them out with or without pixel holes or for projection mapping.

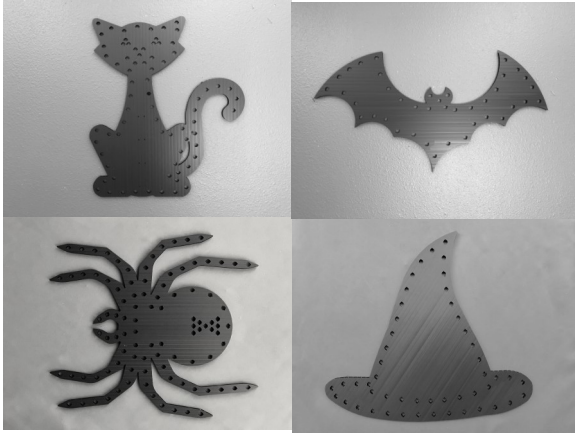

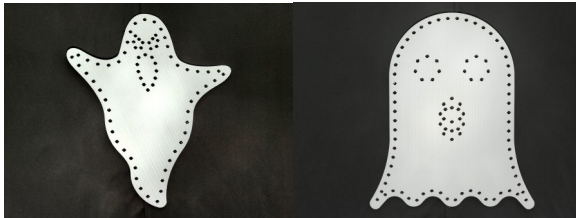

With our own in-house artist, we can create art for virtually any holiday imaginable or specifically for your venue. This is only a sample of what we can offer.
